POLICY FOR CONDUCT OF SHORT-TERM COURSES, SKILL-BASED COURSES, WORKSHOPS, FDP, MDP, ETC.

INTRODUCTION

University of Hyderabad has launched an ambitious plan to leverage the Category-I Graded Autonomy (GA) conferred upon by the University Grants Commission (UGC) to take the University to the next level of academic excellence, while adhering to its core values of equity, social justice, and affordable higher education for the needy.

In statutory meetings it was resolved that funds under Student Welfare, Academic and Research Grant (SWARG) to be created which will be funded by additional revenues to be generated by the University through self-financed skill-based courses, innovative degree programmes, and other collaborative programmes. These new self-financed courses, some of them online, to be developed by the University will address the needs of working professionals and others who will be able to attend classes in the evenings and weekends, without added burden on the hostels and classrooms. In the present scenario, UoH is also seeking ways to raise internal resources, in particular to strengthen SWARG initiative. This fund will go towards enhanced fellowships for PhD students, financial support for students from weaker sections, and for strengthening the skills of students to make them more employable.

Such regular short-courses will complement regular courses taken elsewhere, and in the process, boost human resources and skills across the board. The scope for short-courses should be modular, focused skill development and state-of-the-art training. Professionals can then better identify with the top-class institutes like UoH and the brand-equity of the latter can, well, boost their careers and lead to improved training and development. Members of the public do also need access to talks and seminars for broad-based life-long learning, to better identify with society, and on various novel subjects for a broadening of the mind. Such week-end courses, talks and seminars, that do not insist on prior knowledge would make perfect societal sense.
